Auto Club Adopts Service System in Charge of Officer

Members to Receive Benefit of Various Kinds of Service—Benjamin Suskind, Secretary, to Have Charge of Work—Other Officers Elected—Annual Dues Increased.

At the annual meeting of the Ulster County Automobile Association, held at the court house Monday evening, two highly progressive measures were adopted by the organization that will bring several helpful benefits to its members.

The executive board submitted a proposition to employ a secretary who will devote his time to securing new members and also will have charge of a newly inaugurated service system. Following the close of the meeting, Benjamin Suskind was elected secretary by the executive board to take charge of this work.

Several benefits are derived by the adoption of this service system. They include the finding of garages to be of service to the members in their respective counties, with a station every six to ten miles, towing and emergency accommodations, road emergency card and several other helpful details that have not been fully worked out yet. The secretary will not receive a salary but will receive as remuneration three dollars out of every ten dollar membership. In order to provide for the maintenance of this system, the membership fee will be increased to ten dollars.

Officers Elected.
Officers elected at the meeting were as follows: President, La Monte V. Simpkins; vice president, Elmer E. Swart; treasurer, Ward B. Everett; directors, one year, James F. Loughran, Dr. H. F. Meinhardt; two years, T. D. Houghtaling, Harry P. Dederick; three years, E. H. Bogart, Walter L. Fales.

Roads in Good Condition.
County Superintendent of Highways Loughran was present at the meeting and reported that all the roads were in good condition, little difficulty having been found in removing the snow. He stated he had two village limit signs in his possession and that they would be erected in the spring, one at Mt. Tremper and the other at Bearville.

Tell the Mixed Mob.
Chairman Bogart of the legislative committee reported the activity of this body, as action had been taken at the last session at Albany. The bill for a gas tax of two cents a gallon had been killed and also a bill to increase the license fees had been defeated. He declared that the gas tax had become a political football and it was time for the auto associations to express themselves against it, such as "telling their hired men at Albany where to get off."

Resolutions for W. R. Harrison.
Mr. Bogart referred to the death of W. R. Harrison, a vice-president of the association at the time of his death, and moved that a committee be named to draw up a resolution for the minutes and to be presented to the widow. The chairman appointed the Messrs. Bogart, Thomas and Swart as this committee.

Secretary's Report.
Dr. H. R. Meinhardt presented the secretary's report for the past year as follows:

I beg to submit for your consideration the report of the secretary for 1926. The present paid membership of the club is 483, a gain of 42 over last year. There were 141 new members this year and 74 of last year's membership who did not pay this year. There were three deaths, five resignations and two removals.

This office has been very busy during the past year giving out touring information to members of this club and those of other A. A. clubs. We have endeavored to abide by the suggestion of the A. A. A. to give free service only to members of the A. A. A. and charge outside members for information. We use the members' money to get this information and there is no reason why it should be given out to non-members without charge. The A. A. A. calls such people "mothers" which name is self-explanatory.

Under the efficient management of our good roads chairman, James F. Loughran, the reputation of this club for keeping the roads well paved has been maintained. Due to the signing of the main highways by the state highway department, our work this year has been to sign the county and town roads. I would request Mr. Loughran to make a detailed report for his work during the past year and what plans he has for the future.

Under the head of legislation, Mr. Bogart, chairman of the legislative committee, will make a report later.

Frenchman Dies Following Bout

Charles Pegulhan Dies in Hospital After Collapsing in Fight in His First Bout Here—Police Hold Friedman.

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 14 (AP).—Charles Pegulhan, French lightweight, died at a hospital early today after his fight with Elmer Friedman of Boston at the State Armory last night. It was said the exact cause of death would not be known until after an examination by the coroner. It was thought at first that a fractured skull had caused death. It was his first fight in this country. Friedman was held by the police.

Pegulhan collapsed in the eighth round of his bout with Friedman. The end of the contest came unexpectedly, for the French boxer, who had been substituted for George Lamson, the Cherokee Indian fighter, had been more than holding his own.

The Frenchman had complained that Friedman was butting, but despite this he was fighting hard, giving and taking heavy punishment in every round.

In the early part of the eighth round Friedman drove his right to Pegulhan's stomach and followed with a rain of blows to the head. The Frenchman was driven to the ropes, where he braced himself. They clinched and Friedman pushed away. Pegulhan then staggered and sank to the canvas. He arose at the count of ten and then collapsed.

National guardsmen carried the unconscious boxer to his dressing room and Friedman was taken to police headquarters where he was held on a technical charge of breach of the peace.

Friedman was charged with manslaughter when he was given a hearing before Police Judge Day. The Boston boxer appeared with his manager, Charles C. Scotter, and was not represented by counsel. The case was continued to December 23, pending an inquiry by Coroner J. Gilbert Calhoun, and Friedman was ordered held in bonds of $1,000.

Alleged Gangster Shot to Death

Philadelphia, Dec. 14 (AP).—Leo Brown, 34, alleged figure in several gang shootings here and known to the police as the "King of the Greys," was shot to death in the cafe of a small downtown hotel early today. His assailant escaped.

Philip Turner, alleged proprietor of the cafe, Michael Matteo, bartender, and Henry Abrams, who described himself as a guest at the hotel, were held for questioning. A search of Brown's clothing revealed two grand jury summonses. One of them ordered his appearance to tell what he knew of a murder October 18. The other was in connection with an attempt to kill him and his brother more than a year ago. Both were ignored, police said.

Poughkeepsie's Tax Rate.
Poughkeepsie's tax rate for 1927 has been fixed at $26.253158 per thousand valuation, an increase of $3.05 over last year, and according to the Poughkeepsie Evening Star the increase has been called "terrible."

secretary with enough time to give for this service.

Probably some of the members will think this is a lot of money but when the new secretary's office and staff have been organized an explanatory booklet will be mailed to everyone telling of the new service and you will all find, after looking into the matter, that you really cannot afford not to belong to the Automobile Club, and besides, when you stop to think of it, this club, through its affiliation with the state and national associations, has saved every motorist, whether club member or not, enough money by killing adverse legislation during the past 25 years to pay their dues for the next hundred years. However, a lot of people seem to forget and keep on letting George do it while they reap the benefits. Think it over.

Respectfully submitted,

H. R. Meinhardt,

Secretary.

Public Clash Over Woodrow Wilson's Ideals and Vision

Editor of Theodore Roosevelt Challenged War President's Idealistic Vision After George Creel Speaks on His Former Chief's Personality.

New York, Dec. 14 (AP).—A clash of Theodore Roosevelt and the head of Woodrow Wilson's wartime committee on public information have clashed publicly over the war president's ideals and vision.

In the midst of hundreds of Wilson admirers, Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson last night challenged Woodrow Wilson's idealistic vision after George Creel had made a speech in Town Hall explaining his view of his former chief's personality.

Mr. Creel had declared that Wilson's vision foresaw "a tragedy of disappointment coming" even before the peace conference due to the lapse in idealism that followed the Armistice.

"It is well for great souls such as these if, like Lincoln, they can die at the moment of their greatest achievement," said Mr. Creel. "There is nothing in the world more savage, more cruel, and inhuman than a people's reaction from its own idealism."

After Mr. Creel's address, Robert Brinkley Ely, director of the League for Political Education on President Wilson's Career, under whose auspices the meeting was held, announced that Mr. Creel would answer questions.

"Questions Entrance Into War."
Mrs. Robinson, who had been occupying an aisle seat, arose and in a voice that carried to every corner of the hall, asked:

"If Mr. Wilson had so much vision as you say he had why did he not enter the war sooner and save thousands of lives?"

Some applause greeted the question, but it was drowned out in the buzz of excitement. Mr. Creel answered:

"He did not enter the war sooner because, for one thing, New York and the Atlantic seaboard are not America. It would have been impossible to commit the American people to war any earlier."

But the answer failed to satisfy Mrs. Robinson. She shook her head and exclaimed:

"You didn't answer my question!"

"But," explained Mr. Creel, "the President can't declare war. Do you deny, Madame, that Congress has the sole power to declare war? My answer is that Congress would not have declared war in 1915 or 1916; the anti-war and the pro-German sentiment was too strong."

Mrs. Robinson was unsatisfied. Still unsatisfied, Mrs. Robinson arose again. "You are evading, not answering this question," she declared. "The President has the power of leadership. It is said that he kept us out of war. I want to know why he didn't lead us in sooner?"

Mr. Ely meanwhile was endeavoring to keep order in the meeting; he waved his hand soothingly and tried to quiet Mrs. Robinson with polite words and announced that the question had been answered. When other questioners arose with other topics, Mrs. Robinson left the hall.

Disappointed in Governor's Speech

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP).—State Engineer Roy G. Finch, a member of the New York State Water Power Commission, said today that he was "disappointed" in Governor Smith's speech on water power, delivered at New York last night.

"The governor's speech," said Mr. Finch, "was a disappointment because I thought he was going to lay down a plan for hydro-electric development, which he did not do. Water power development has been studied from many angles for the last thirty years. The only way the people of the state will ever get any benefit from these great natural resources will be to have them developed. I hope that the new investigation suggested by the governor does not mean that development will be delayed for twenty years more."

"I was interested in the governor's statement that every line and every sentence in my water power report was handed to me by someone else. That was not true."

Speaker Joseph A. McGuinness of the assembly, another member of the commission, declined to comment on the governor's speech.

19 Killed, 70 Hurt in Explosion

Digne, Department Bassein Alpes, France, Dec. 14 (AP).—Nineteen men are dead, most of them having been asphyxiated, in consequence of the explosion of 20,000 kilograms of liquid chlorine in a factory at St. Auban. Seventy other men were injured, 38 of them seriously.

Those who lost their lives included six Frenchmen. The remainder were Algerians, Russians and Portuguese.

A sudden rise in the temperature after an extremely cold spell is given as the cause of the explosion.

Kosher Meat Suit In Supreme Court

Ellenville Butcher Claims That Swift & Company Supplied Him With Tref Meat, Which Caused Business to Wither.

Swift & Company, meat packers, seek to recover $547.62 from Abraham Miller, Ellenville butcher, for meats which they allege they have sold him and for which he has failed to pay. Mr. Miller is now in the Supreme court to recover $5,000 for alleged damage to his business which he claims has dropped from a thriving business to a mere nothing because Swift & Company sent to his market two shipments of meat in 1923 which was not kosher.

From the facts as outlined in the case, Miller conducted a large market at Ellenville, selling kosher meats exclusively. He enjoyed the trade of the Jewish population and sold to the large boarding houses until 1923 when the rabbi and his committee from the Ellenville congregation came to the market and discovered tref meat. The first time it was discovered, an explanation was made that the mistake had been made by Swift & Company and Miller claims that at that time he informed the salesman who he sent for, that he wanted nothing but kosher meats. However, nine days later another shipment was made from Harrison, N. J., and in the lot was a piece of tref meat. The rabbi and his committee detected the meat shortly after it arrived and fined Miller, and since that time the market has dwindled away to a small business and Miller claims he has been damaged to the extent of $5,000.

Packing Company Denies Liability.
The packing company claims that there was never an express warranty that they would supply only kosher meat. Further they contend that even if a mistake was made and other than kosher meat was supplied, they are not liable for damages.

The meat was sold to Miller through the Jewish salesman who worked for Swift & Company. He received orders and the goods were shipped to Ellenville. On August 8, 1923, a shipment was received by express and sent to the Miller market. Before the expressman had left the place and before Miller had opened the package the rabbi who inspected the place and his committee came in and discovered the tref meat. Calling on Miller to explain, he told them it was not kosher it had been shipped through an error. The salesman was sent for and arriving, was informed of the affairs. At that time Miller was told that future errors would not be overlooked and it is alleged that at that time the salesman for the company was so informed. The tref meat was returned and credit given.

Jewish Trade Went Elsewhere.
On August 18 another shipment was sent and the committee discovered more tref meat and the firm was imposed and the Jewish trade left the Miller shop to trade elsewhere. Miller brought the $5,000 action for damages for breach of warranty under the counter claim.

Plaintiff alleges that they never knew until after they had repeatedly demanded payment for the amount due that Miller was seeking to recover damages. In serving the answer to the complaint, he entered a counter claim for damages.

Swift & Company seek to recover what is due them, $581.15, less the credits for the two lots returned, amounting to $347.62.

John W. Eckert appears for plaintiff and Judge William D. Cunningham for defendant.

Business Venture and Auto Collision

Both Resulted in Lawsuits in Which Plaintiffs Received Verdicts in the Supreme Court Monday.

Supreme court after a week of adjournments when no cases could be found ready for trial, finally got under way Monday afternoon. Two undefended actions were tried and verdicts rendered and a jury was taken in another action which was continued today.

Judge Russell, who is presiding, now has a day calendar which includes several cases ready for trial.

Peter O'Rice of this city sued James Turck to recover $150 which plaintiff claims was due him. He testified that in September, 1924, he and Turck entered into a partnership business which lasted until January, 1925; then he sold out to his partner for $150, but never received the money. He was awarded a verdict in the sum of $157.45. Roscoe V. Ellsworth of Brinker, Canfield & Ellsworth, appeared for plaintiff.

A. V. Van Gansbeek of this city brought an action against William Levine to recover for damages sustained in a collision on the Ellenville-Kingston highway near "Kee" on August 15, 1924. The case was not on the calendar and was not defended. Earl H. Houghtaling of Warden appeared for Mr. Van Gansbeek, who claimed damages amounting to $347.35. A verdict was found in that amount.

Work Progresses Rapidly on New Broadway Theatre

Largest Derrick in State Being Employed in Constructing Work—Roof to Be in Place Early in January if Weather Permits.

The advantage of good organization is apparent when one visits the site of the new Broadway Theatre. Many favorable comments are heard at the splendid progress being made. The cast stone front sets off the four stories on Broadway, and the high character of the general appearance is emphasized by the cast stone. The office portion of the structure is well under way and, weather permitting, the roof for the theatre will be in place early in January.

In the erection of the structural steel, the largest derrick in New York state is being employed. This derrick has a mast 110 feet high and a boom of 100 feet. The next largest derrick in New York state, according to reports, is 105 feet high. It is interesting to learn that the steel is all of the most substantial. Two roof trusses are 105 feet long and weigh 34,000 pounds each and four roof trusses are 44 feet long, weighing 7,000 pounds each. The balcony truss is 75 feet long weighing 36,000 pounds and the proscenium trusses weigh 10,000 pounds. The steel erection was started on December 9 and is being pushed with all speed. There are several cars of steel rolling. The last car of steel will leave the shops on December 15.

Charles R. Sewell, superintendent in charge of the steel erection, has been on many large steel jobs, amongst which he has to his credit are superintendent in charge of a large portion of the Bear Mountain Bridge and the Hellgate Bridge on which he was engaged during the years 1913, 1914 and 1915.

The stage basement structure is completed, and stage and other walls are more than 20 feet above street level.

The facilities employed are such that only inclement weather interferes with the progress. Cold is not a severe hindrance as Skinner & Cook have perfected a preheating arrangement for the mortar and the bricklayers are all kept employed where otherwise this part of the work would be held up but for the method employed of bringing warm mortar to the bricklayers.

The electricians and plumbers are keeping progress with the building and Harry Lazarus, the president, can be seen on the job wearing his smile of satisfaction in the organization of Skinner & Cook and George E. Lowe, the local architect, ready to decide anything requiring their attention so no undue delays can come up to retard the opening date which is in mind of the president of the Kingston Theatre Corporation.

Floating Ice In Hudson River

Warm Weather and Fog Break Up Ice Fields in Upper Hudson—Heavy Fog Stopped Ferry Monday—Tow Left for New York This Afternoon.

The warm spell and heavy fog have broken up the ice fields in the upper Hudson river and today the river was filled with floating ice. The big tow of the Marine Transit Corporation in charge of four of their tugs that passed the mouth of the Rondout creek Sunday morning aided materially in breaking up the ice fields in the upper river, and encountered heavy ice all the way from above Ulitsa to the Poughkeepsie bridge.

So heavy was the fog that covered the river like a blanket Monday afternoon that the ferry Transport made its last trip at 4:30 o'clock that afternoon, the remaining trips on the day's schedule being made by the tug Rob.

Today the Cornell Steamboat Company was busy making up a tow which was expected to leave Rondout creek late this afternoon for New York city. It was not expected that there would be any difficulty in getting through to New York with the tow.

Hanged Himself With Necktie

New Brunswick, N. J., Dec. 14 (AP).—Carmine Avolone, aged 25, who was to have been arraigned today with four other men for the slaying of James Gallagher, during a holdup in August, 1925, committed suicide early today by hanging.

His body, suspended from the top of the cell door by his necktie, was found by a companion at the Middlesex county jail.

Avolone was returned from the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga. last week, where he was serving a term for counterfeiting.

Woman Dying in Fall.

Mrs. Albert Frenze of Saugerties, who in Kingston Saturday, slipped and fell on Wall street, breaking her hip, was taken to the Kingston City Hospital where an X-ray was taken and the injury attended and she was then removed to the home of her son, Jesse Frenze, in this city.

Early Returns of Religious Census

Indicate That America Is More Religious Than England—Most of Country Has Greater Faith Than New York City That There Is a God.

New York, Dec. 14 (AP).—America possibly is more religious than England, fresh returns in a nationwide religious census indicate, and the rest of the country has greater faith than has New York city that there is a God.

Eighty-nine per cent of 50,000 readers of 150 newspapers in 11 states have replied in a questionnaire that they believe in God, while in a similar campaign in England only 73 per cent of the readers of the London Daily News expressed belief in a "personal God." Commentators call attention to the mere limited definition of the London questionnaire.

The American questionnaires were sent out in connection with a campaign on religion by the church advertising department of the International Advertising Association and were drafted by 190 clergymen. The questionnaire is to be printed another week and the committee points out that the first returns are not necessarily conclusive.

Reply to the question "Do you believe in immortality?" brought a response of 85 per cent in the affirmative, while the same question in the London Daily News brought 10,161 affirmative answers and 3,175 negative answers.

The ratio of belief to disbelief was almost the same to all questions published in the questionnaire in New York and in nearly every case was somewhat higher than the same ratio in England.

In comparison to 59 per cent in the country as a whole, only 68 per cent of the residents of New York city believe in God, in like manner while returns show 77 per cent of the residents of the entire country believe in the divinity of Jesus, only 54 per cent of New York city residents share that belief, and while 70 per cent of the country at large are active church members this is true of only 42 per cent of New Yorkers.

Attorney Will Defend His Wife

Otis Rogers, Who Maintained Secrecy Regarding His Marriage to Rebecca Bradley, Will Defend Her on Charge of Robbing Farmers' National Bank.

Austin, Tex., Dec. 14 (AP).—Otis Rogers, young Amarillo attorney who maintained secrecy regarding his marriage last year to Rebecca Bradley while they were students at the University of Texas, today was adding in defense of his wife, who is charged with robbing the Farmers' National Bank at Buda.

Married at Georgetown, Texas, last October, they continued their university courses, the husband graduating from the law college while his bride was awarded a bachelor of arts degree. They decided that Rogers' income as an attorney might prove inadequate to support a home and agreed to separate while he developed his practice.

Rebecca obtained a position as stenographer in the office of Dan Moody, attorney general and governor-elect, and continued her university work with the view of securing a higher degree. Rogers opened a law office at Amarillo and so well did they guard their secret that Rebecca's mother, with whom she lived here, denied the marriage, when Otis announced he was coming to the defense of his wife.

Meeting in the office of an attorney employed by Rebecca, the couple last night discussed the state charge that she drove her automobile to Buda Saturday and displaying a pistol forced two bank employees into a vault and escaped with nearly $1,000 in currency. Rogers said he would appear in district court today with his wife's counsel in an effort to secure her release on bond after a lower court yesterday refused a similar request on the ground that the charge of robbery with firearms was a capital offense.

WORK AT CHAPLIN

STUDIO ABANDONED

Hollywood, Calif., Dec. 14 (AP).—All work at the Charlie Chaplin studio here was abandoned today after the orders of studio officials yesterday to strike the "chick" which has been used as the set for the screen comedian's picture, in the making, "The Circus."

Meanwhile Chaplin, who quit work in his comedy role after his recent break with his wife, the former Lita Grey, remains in seclusion at a nearby resort. His attorney announced that he still was waiting "from the strain of the past few weeks."

Delaford Going to Florida.

Richard Delaford of Tuxedo Park has rented a house on Clarke avenue near the ocean at Palm Beach, Fla., and is expected to arrive there soon. He has been seriously ill since last season but hopes to reap much benefit from a winter in Florida. He is one of Palm Beach's indefatigable fishermen and was a member of the now defunct Salish Club. Mr. Delaford is well known to many persons in Kingston as he was a former summer resident of Stone Ridge.

Points to Defects In Smith's Water Power Program

Owen D. Young, General Electric Chairman, Is in Partial Disagreement With Governor Smith's Plan For State Water Power Development.

New York, Dec. 14 (AP).—Owen D. Young, chairman of the General Electric Company, today declared himself in partial disagreement with Governor Smith in his suggestion for the creation of a state power authority to develop water power.

Governor Smith made his proposals in a speech last night at a dinner party given by Survey Associates, Inc., publishers of the Survey and Survey Graphic.

He declared that the state must never relinquish control of the water power sites, and said that the present power commission, although composed of the attorney general, conservation commissioner, and others he classified as able, was not qualified by training to formulate a power policy, and did not have time to study the question.

The governor proposed that a power authority, modeled somewhat after the Port Authority, be created to study and recommend to the legislature a power program. He suggested that development of power from St. Lawrence river to Niagara Falls be financed through bonds issued on earnings.

Mr. Young, in a statement today, said that he agrees with Governor Smith insofar as his plan contemplates the use of private capital, but "at one point in his speech he suggested that the state itself might put in a little money if it were needed, and the taxpayers would not know the difference. At that point I am in complete disagreement with him as a matter of principle."

Mr. Young declares that if an enterprise is not sound enough to be financed with private capital "then is the time for the government to be kept out." He believes the principal practical difficulty with the governor's plan is that the entire cost of the enterprise must be financed by bonds, with no margin, such as the stock of a private company, as a margin of guarantee fund for the assurance of investors.

Mr. Young holds that the economy of water power is doubtful and therefore economy should not motivate development, but the prospect of making New York independent of other states should.

Zero Weather in Eastern Section

Winter Sweeps In Eastern Half of Country from Western States—Cold Wave Along Atlantic to the Gulf Coast.

Chicago, Dec. 14 (AP).—Bitter winter swept into the eastern half of the country today from western states, struggling in the grip of zero weather and deep drifted snows.

Swirling winds bore the cold wave across the Mississippi valley and flung it in a broad fan that brushed the Atlantic seaboard and reached to the Gulf coast.

Normal life came to a virtual standstill in the northwest, and down into the central states trains were running behind schedule, schools were closed and crippled communication told of a mounting death toll. Blizzards and winds of near gale velocity played havoc with the air mail.

Extreme temperatures handicapped efforts to loose the hold of the heavy snows, and the weather bureau promised little relief for at least two more days. In Montana, Wyoming and Colorado the mercury dropped to 20 below, the southwest shivered in below freezing weather and temperatures hovered about zero in midwest thermometers.

Drowns Daughters Then Takes Poison

Waltham, Mass., Dec. 14 (AP).—Mrs. Phillip Locasio today drowned her two young daughters in a bath tub and then took poison from which it is expected she will die.

The police were told that Mrs. Locasio had suffered a nervous breakdown some time ago and a recurrence of that condition, it was believed, led her to drown Betty and Pauline. The husband and father had gone to his work in Boston.

SANITARY MEAT MARKET TO BE ON BROADWAY

The Sanitary Meat Market at No. 15 Andrew street will shortly be located in a new store on Broadway, near Staples street. Two modern stores are being erected in front of the old Industrial Home building on Broadway, and one of these stores will be occupied by the meat market.

Nidnaght Fined $5.

State Has 10,000 Miles of Highways

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP).—New York state's improved highway system embraces a mileage sufficient to stretch three pavements of average width from New York city to the Pacific coast.

Sixteen hundred miles of concrete roads are already down in the state, or enough to provide an 18-foot highway between New York and Chicago. The 4,000 miles of bituminous macadam, if laid out in a line, would link New York and San Francisco with a road 16 feet wide, and there would be enough left over to reach Denver on the return trip. Three hundred miles of brick pavement, still to be found in various parts of the state, would make a sixteen foot road between Albany and Buffalo.

The remainder of the 10,000 miles of improved highways consists of old waterbound macadam.

FAMOUS EXPLORER WAS INURED IN FALL

Cornings, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP).—Carl Akeley, explorer, who died in November in the Belgian Congo, Africa, fractured a rib and received other injuries in a fall while hunting gorillas and water buffalo a few weeks before his death. Arthur Janssen, formerly of Cornings, has written his parents here.

Janssen, who was with Akeley at the time, is employed by the American Museum of Natural History in New York city as an artist. He was studying the natural colorings of vegetables and animal life preparatory to painting backgrounds for wild life groups to be placed in the museum while Akeley was obtaining specimens for the museum's African hall.

It is believed here that possibly these injuries were a contributing cause to the death of the explorer. Janssen returned to New York city in November, leaving Mr. Akeley in the hospital.

YOUTH FIND SKUNK HUNTING PROFITABLE

Stanley, N. Y., Dec. 14 (AP).—The village of Stanley is suffering from an epidemic of morphia Americana, known in the popular tongue as skunk. Youths are seeking to eliminate the undesirable visitors by killing and trapping them, and some of the more ambitious hunters are building bank accounts from sales of the skins.

Few buildings in the village have not their quota of skunks. The animals are growing unusually bold and tame, and appear to be quite at home in and around barns, corncribs and hen houses.

The odor of the animals rather than their presence has aroused the ire of Stanley residents, but the outcome of the campaign against them is watched with interest and considerable hope of success.

Charity and the Poor

Charity in various guises is an intruder the poor see often; but courtesy and efficiency are visitants with which they are seldom honored.

One Green Vegetable a Day

"I'm not very strong on calories, a balanced ration, vitamins, and other scientifically named attributes of the daily meal," laughed a housewife recently. "Great stress is laid on the make-up of the family meals, but some way I do not notice that meals are very different, for a' that. Our grandmothers served much the same foods that we do —a soup, meat, potatoes or rice, a green vegetable or two, celery, pickles, and a sweet to top off with. Except that they ate about twice as much as we do, the menu was approximately the same. We call it a balanced diet, and they called it getting dinner!

"As a matter of fact, the well-balanced meal is not only more wholesome and digestible, but it tastes better. No one would want to eat two starches at the same meal, even if it were good for him. People naturally choose a balanced ration. Things go well together. We have learned through long experience what foods do not go well together; and while occasionally the young cook makes the mistake of assembling too many sweets, too many acids, or too many starches, she soon finds that they do not make a bit and changes her ways.

"So I just let my family eat naturally, without much thought of vitamins and calories. But one thing I do insist on, and that is at least one green vegetable a day. And when I say I mean a green vegetable, I mean a green vegetable. I do not mean canned corn, or lima beans, and I am sometimes tempted not to include green peas with potatoes or rice, unless they are very new and tender green peas right out of the garden. Then, to me, are starches, thick foods, and not at all 'green' in the sense that connects the word with string beans, spinach, carrots, parsnips, summer squash, beets, celery, egg plant and other foods that are watery, as against dry.

"I do believe that the system needs its daily green vegetable in some form or other. If a salad is served, using plenty of lettuce, cream, or chichey, that will take the place of the vegetable. As soon as possible in the spring I serve rhubarb, and all during the summer I use vegetable tops, or 'greens' freely. Cauliflower and cabbage, turnips and pumpkins all fill the bill. There are so many green vegetables that the housewife may serve one every day in the year without being too frequent repetition."

Sad Sight

Secretary Mellon on his return from Europe said at a Washington dinner party:

"In France, especially on the Riviera, you see a lot of young and able-bodied Russians who are living on their principal—on the money amassed from the sale of the jewels and palatines and bibelots that they managed to smuggle out with them in their flight.

"Living on their principal instead of going to work, these Russians remind me of Heine's monkey. Heine's monkey, you know, was found one day seated before the fire, cheerfully cooking his own tail with potatoes and onions in a saucepan for dinner."

Depicts Desert Tragedy

A grim little memento of a tragedy of the desert has been given to the University of Pennsylvania by Prof. John W. Harshberger of the botany department. It consists of the dried and mummified body of a horned toad, entangled among the curved spines of a small cactus. The skin of the luckless little animal was not punctured in any place, but its hind legs were fettered by the fish-hook-shaped thorns, and it had apparently died a slow death of hunger and thirst. The cactus appears to be much tougher than its animal victim, for though it had been torn from its roots for several weeks it showed no signs of distress, and Professor Harshberger stated that such plants are able to live without a drop of water for several years, lying on a laboratory shelf.

And Don't Come Back

There is a rule at Monte Carlo that if a player begs himself at the gaming tables the establishment will reimburse him sufficiently to insure his return to his home place. But he may never play there again until the loan is paid.

In the "Boaring Forties" in this city is a restaurant which has a rule somewhat similar. The place is noted for its steaks and chops and its proprietor swears by them. Such, indeed, is his pride that no patron who is served and complains about the quality of the food is permitted to pay for it. The check for his repast is destroyed before his face. Then he is courteously asked never to darken the door of the establishment again. — New York World.

Family of Statesmen

Ohio once had a representative in congress who was the son of a President and the father of a President. He was John Scott Harrison, born at Terre Haute, Ind., at the time when his father, Gen. William Henry Harrison, was governor of Indiana. His son was Benjamin Harrison. John Scott Harrison served only two terms in congress, then retired to the ancestral farm near North Bend, Ohio, where he devoted the rest of his life to agriculture, art and literature. He was first elected in 1892 to the Thirty-second congress. His second term was in the Thirty-fourth congress. He died at North Bend, May 24, 1878.

Travel for Travel's Sake

For my part, I travel not to go anywhere, but to go. I travel for travel's sake. The great affair is to move; to feel the needs and hitches of our life more early; to come down off this feathered civilization, and find the globe-graze under foot and scum with cutting flints. Alas, as we get up in life, and are more preoccupied with our affairs, even a holiday is a thing that must be worked for. To hold a pack upon pack-trail against a gain out of the freezing North is no high industry, but it is one that serves to occupy and compass the mind. And when the present is so exciting who can fancy himself about the future? — Robert Louis Stevenson.

PHILCO

Runs Any Radio from Your Electric Current!

"A" and "B" Socket Power

Convenient terms — $5.00 Down
balance in six monthly payments

$2.50 to $5.00 allowance on your old battery

It has been a long step from the home-made radio of three or four years ago to the marvelously efficient receiving sets of today. The maze of wires, conglomeration of parts, batteries and head phones, has given way to the modern set enclosed in a cabinet of a "period" design, which finds a place in the most carefully appointed home.

The Philco socket power which provides "A" and "B" battery supply is a complete radio power plant, enclosed in an attractive cabinet and is the final touch to the modern radio outfit.

Not only is it good looking, but it is wonderfully efficient. It insures a uniform voltage for the plate and the filament and relieves you of the attention which ordinary batteries require.

So great is the demand for Philco

Socket Power outfits that the manufacturers are having difficulty supplying them. We are fortunate in having received an allotment which will enable us to supply our customers with Philco sets during this Christmas season, on very attractive terms.

Prices are: For a 6 volt "A" Circuit $38.50, for "B" Circuit $37.50, for combining "B" Circuit and 6 volt "A" Circuit $71.50, and for combining "B" Circuit and 3 volt "A" Circuit $62.00, with a discount for cash.

Come in and see how the Philco works

We shall be glad to give you a home demonstration during broadcast hours.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By the Associated Press)

Pittsfield, Mass.—The latest fad for girls is to take a stroll with a hopping white rabbit held by a leash.

Middleport, N. Y.—A golden eagle has been caught here in a skunk trap.

Hinsdale, Mass.—Fellows who first thought their hunting friends were liars now know that they were merely mistaken. There came tales of a black deer running loose. It has been identified as a goat that escaped from a farm.

Detroit.—One of the few men known by Postmaster-General New to have died without leaving enemies or bitter thoughts was Buck Beaufort, a veteran guide, "the breath of the outdoors of north Michigan." Mr. New delivered a eulogy at the funeral.

Lawrence, Kansas.—William Allen White believes there is a Santa Claus, "a spirit which makes people do the utterly unreasonable thing out of which comes happiness."

New York.—Dusolina Glanini, operatic soprano, always prays before going on the stage.

Philadelphia.—Censorship of utterances of Americans abroad is favored by Frank Aydelotte, president of Swarthmore, who warned against loose talk.

New York.—So much time is being devoted to sport in some colleges that graduates are unfitted for marriage. In the opinion of William Van Duzer Lawrence, who has given $1,250,000 to found a new college in Bronxville. One of its principal aims is to qualify girls for matrimony.

Chicago.—It is never too late to obtain an education, thinks Mrs. N. O. Freeman, 77, widow of a Methodist minister. She has enrolled at Northwestern University.

Genoa.—All Fascist ship, the Augustus, 23,500 tons, the world's largest motorcraft, is now in the water. It was christened by Edda Mussolini, the premier's 16-year-old daughter. It will be used in the South American trade.

Old Whistling Arrow Like "Tracer" Bullet

A Chinese whistling arrow, which served the purpose thousands of years ago that the modern tracer bullet of antiaircraft guns does today, has been added to the collection of other relics of the mystic East at the National Museum at Washington by Col. E. H. Humphrey of the United States army.

This ancient weapon resembles an ordinary arrowhead except for a hollow bulb on the front shaped like a large acorn, where the arrowhead should be. This hollow bulb is slit with crescent-shaped openings through which the air rushes when it is in flight, producing a shrill whistle. The arrow, museum officials state, was used in ancient China to indicate the course of flight, as well as for a signaling device and a means of terrorizing the enemy.

This same principle is used in modern warfare in tracer bullets, which contain a substance that leaves a train of smoke behind them. In antiaircraft machine guns every third bullet is thus marked, enabling the gunner to follow the course of his shots.

The whistling arrow is said to have been introduced into China by the Tartars. When besieging towns at night the ancient tribesmen fired the arrows high over the walls. Legends tell how terrified the inhabitants were. They believed the weird noises were the howls of flying devils. They lost their morale, and, believing their enemies to be in league with the evil spirits, often opened their gates to them and tried to appease them with gifts instead of resisting them in battle.

Scientists' Lonely Job

Two Americans have begun a lonely three-year vigil on the top of a mountain near Cape Town, South Africa, with a view of studying sun spots in the interest of better weather forecasting. Armed with an immense amount of astronomical apparatus, they took up their abode on a mountain peak 8,200 feet high. The men have selected this particular location because the atmosphere is clear and there is no dust or clouds and little rain to interfere with their observations.

Women Inventors Busy

The patent office in Washington grants about 500 patents to women every year. Their inventions include every conceivable device from home culture to windmill-driven. Most women's inventions are household devices, but they include also agricultural machinery, hospital equipment, manufacturing equipment throughout the range of 60 industries from coal mining to submarine exploration, chemicals and artificial silk.

Golden for Antelope

To assist cross-country men in bringing their baggage, the Standard Oil company will mark the route of 110 of its stations between San Diego, Calif., and Seattle, Wash., with the names of the towns in which they are situated. In addition an arrow will be painted over by giving the true north. The marking will be of sufficient proportions to enable the owner to be read from airplanes at great distances.

ST. MARY'S ROSARY SOCIETY RE-ELECT OFFICERS

At the annual meeting of St. Mary's Rosary Society held in the school hall, the following officers were unanimously re-elected: President, Mrs. Sarah T. Gallagher; vice-president, Miss Elizabeth McDonough; secretary, Mrs. Joan D. Goldrick; treasurer, Mrs. Mary Kogel. The Rev. Joseph B. Scully, pastor, addressed the meeting which was a large and representative one and expressed his pleasure in having to assist him such an enthusiastic body of women. He reviewed the work of the past year and many plans were laid for the activities of the coming year. It is his intention to hold a series of lectures, also entertainments during the winter to bring the people together and in this way create a stronger parish spirit.

The society is in a flourishing condition with a membership of over six hundred. Following the meeting, refreshments were served. Under the sponsorship of the ladies of St. Mary's parish, preparations are being made for their annual bazaar which will be held in the school hall during the week of January 17, 1927. For several years this affair has attracted many, due to the numerous and beautiful articles displayed at the several booths.

The ladies are grateful to all who helped make their last bazaar so wonderful a success and hope the same spirit of generous cooperation will be shown on this occasion. Miss Mary McGill, who is general chairman, has appointed an energetic corps of assistants and it is expected with the aid of the united societies of the church to make this a bigger success than all previous undertakings.

Blame Dense Fog For Rail Wrecks

In Which Nine Persons Were Injured in New Jersey—River Craft Crash and 25 Incoming Ships Are Unable to Dock.

New York, Dec. 14 (AP).—A dense fog, rolling eastward before a cold wave from the west, and blanketing the New York region in gloom, was blamed today for two railroad wrecks, a collision of river craft, and the detention off New York harbor of 25,000 passengers aboard 25 incoming ships.

Nine persons were injured in two railroad accidents in New Jersey last night, one a rear end collision between two express trains of the Pennsylvania Railroad near New Brunswick and the other a derailment of a Baltimore and Ohio Railway train near Trenton.

The second section of the Atlantic City express, moving slowly through the gloom near Howe's lane, ran into the Commercial express, St. Louis to New York, derailing the front truck of the Atlantic City locomotive, and the rear truck of the last car of the St. Louis train.

Mrs. Barbara Steinmetz, of St. Louis, a passenger on the Commercial express, was taken to the Middlesex Hospital, where she was found to have body bruises. Nathan Williams, negro Pullman porter, suffered lacerations of the arms.

Several other persons were slightly injured and after receiving treatment continued their journey on other trains.

Five persons were slightly injured, two of them women, when a Washington-New York train of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad was derailed at Hopewell Junction, near Trenton. Eight of the nine cars left the rails. Railroad men said the dense fog caused the engineer to miss a signal and run into a derailment switch.

Among the 25 vessels detained off Quarantine last night were eight liners, including the Berengaria of the Cunard Line and the Deutschland of the Hamburg-American line. Pilots refused to risk an attempt to guide the giant ships through the heavy fog that hung over the bay.

The Hidden Dollar

Editor McIntosh finds another good thing about the autumn, in that it's the "pay-up season," of which he says:

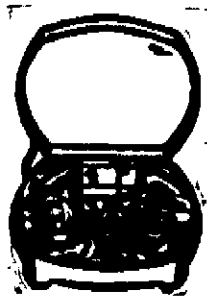

"A dollar in hiding is as useless as though it lay a thousand fathoms deep in the middle of the Atlantic ocean. It is absolutely valueless as long as it is not paying and buying, which are the only two things money can do. Do you owe anything? Can you pay any part of the obligation? If so, bring your money out of its hiding place and put it to work. It will keep paying as long as it will boost your credit more in a moment than would a million times as much buried at the foot of the old apple tree or hidden in a hollow log.

Textile Employees Return to Work

Leaders Consider Settlement a Real Measure of Peace Inasmuch as Two Mills Employ 10,000 Workers at Peak Times.

Passaic, N. J., Dec. 14 (AP).—Drab picket lines of men who for ten months stood daily at the entrances of textile mills in this district and exhorted workers to join their ranks, today disappeared from the vicinity of the Garfield and the Botany worsted mills, which, following the action a month ago of the Passaic worsted mills, have settled the strike.

The settlement was announced at a meeting of the workers last night by Thomas F. McMahon, international president of the United Textile Workers of America. It was effected through the efforts of a committee of five citizens appointed at the suggestion of James Starr, international vice-president of the U. T. W. A.

The settlement between the workers and the Passaic worsted mill was considered merely as an "ice breaker," but yesterday's agreement affecting two of the largest mills, which at peak times employ a total of 10,000 workers, was considered by leaders a real measure of peace.

The settlement arranged was the same as that agreed to by the Passaic Worsteds Company. It did not include many of the demands made early in the strike. Among these were an increase in wages; allowance of time and one-half for overtime; return of money lost through wage cuts last year, and establishment of a forty-four hour week.

Provided for the right to organize; the right of collective bargaining; an open shop; arbitration in the event of grievances; strikers to be re-employed without discrimination, and no employment of outside help until the strikers have been taken care of.

$2,000,000 Saved By Farm Bureaus

Two million dollars were saved farmers by Farm Bureaus in 1926, according to Jay Coryell, state leader of county agents, who says:

Farmers when considering the Farm Bureau sometimes ask "What do I get out of it? Is it of any value to my personal business? Is the work of definite value to the agriculture of New York state?" Questions of this kind are pertinent. It is difficult and unsatisfactory to attempt to measure any educational work strictly in terms of dollars.

A Half Million Saved on Feed Bill. Dairy farmers have faced the problem of reducing feed costs. A few years ago the Farm Bureau over the state started hundreds of demonstrations to show the value of growing mixed grains, peas, oats and barley or oats and barley. As a direct result of this demonstration work 110,494 acres of mixed grains were grown this year in 45 counties with an average increase of 8.3 bushels per acre. This means $17,000 additional bushels of grain available for feed. At 60¢ per bushel this represents a saving in feed bills of $550,260, or an average saving of $12,226 per county.

20,827 Acres of Alfalfa. The alfalfa work carried out by the bureaus has met with success. Farmers are given sound advice as to land suitable for alfalfa production, use of lime, inoculation, value of hardy seed, cultural methods, etc., with the results that previous failures have been turned into present successes. As a result of Farm Bureau work in 45 counties 20,827 acres of alfalfa are being grown. It is not unreasonable to estimate that two additional tons of hay per acre is being made available for feeding.

At $16 per ton this amounts to $693,810 in a single year. The average value per county is $14,490. Harvest weather forecasts were made available to farmers and our records show that 24,501 farmers in 45 counties used the service. If we may assume that an average of $5 per farm was saved as a result of this service it amounts to $122,505 or an average of $2,722 per county for the 45 counties.

Poultry culling has been made available to farmers through the county farm bureaus. During 1926, in 50 counties, 419,479 birds were examined and 117,760 removed from the flocks as culls. Any poultryman will agree that the removal of a cull from the flock means a saving of a dollar or more. At this figure $117,760 were saved; an average of $2,355 per county.

120,000 Woodchucks Killed. An intensive woodchuck campaign was put on in 30 counties. An average of 4,000 woodchuck burrows per county treated with cyanogas, remained unopened. The killing of at least 120,000 woodchucks in New York state as a result of a few weeks' work is no small accomplishment. If we may assume that each woodchuck would have destroyed $5 worth of crops, this piece of work alone saved New York state farmers $600,000 or $21,500 per county. The above figures were checked with a representative of the company selling the cyanogas and he feels that they are entirely too low as approximately forty tons of cyanogas were sold in New York state almost entirely for woodchuck control work.

The spray service work made a big contribution to western New York farmers by saving them thousands of dollars in the cost of spray materials. Last spring it was unnecessary to apply the nicotine sulphate spray on aphids because the aphids were killed during the winter. Farmers receiving the spray service were advised and the saving in costs of nicotine sulphate amounted to more than $200,000 in western New York. In questioning 53 representative growers in Warren and Monroe counties it was learned the average saving per man was about $45 on aphid control preparations alone. In some counties more than 500 growers are reached by the spray service assistant in several hours time when important spraying information is sent out.

22,000,000 Trees Planted. Farm Bureau programs are made as forward looking as possible through the best judgment of thinking farmers who are directing the work in the various counties. This is well illustrated by the reforestation work. This year 22,000,000 trees were planted in New York state. Nothing approaching this number has ever been planted in one year in any state before. Our records show that 5,234,790 of these were planted directly as a result of farm bureau service.

If we can accept the figures above as being reasonably accurate, the farm bureau service on the seven projects mentioned has been worth $2,257,442 to New York State farmers in 1926. This is an average of $44,352 per county for the 51 counties reporting.

Results in Ulster County. Supplementing the above figures with figures from the Ulster county program during the past year Manager Wigton has the following to say: "Ulster county farmers took part in all seven projects reported on by Mr. Coryell. The increased acres in Ulster county of oats and barley over oats alone can be safely estimated at one thousand. Increased acres of legumes can be safely estimated at one thousand. The harvest wheat or rye used by one hundred and twenty-five farmers in this county. Sixty-four poultrymen used the culling service, 10,000 birds were handled, 4,000 removed as culls. Five woodchuck control demonstrations were held. An efficient and highly satisfactory spray information service was conducted. Two reforestation demonstrations were planned. With one of the largest businesses in the state, farmers in this county can depend on getting their share of farm bureau extension service."

Events at the High School

On Thursday, December 23, the junior class of Kingston High School will hold its annual dance. The members of the class and the committee in charge of the event have been working hard to make the event such that it will eclipse all dances held by previous junior classes.

The Prisma Society, one of the most active organizations in the school, under the direction of Miss Cordes, undertook to decorate the edifice and give it the proper Christmas spirit. The lobby of the institution is artistically embellished in appropriate colors and on the desk of each teacher the appropriate red candles in green holders, signifying the holiday presence, are in evidence.

Another of the spelling matches for which the Prisma Society is noted was held under the auspices of that organization recently and Emily Card of Port Ewen was the proud winner of the contest.

THE WEEK AT RONDOUT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Rondout Presbyterian Church will send a Christmas box to the immigrant families detained at Ellis Island.

The proceeds of the annual fair and turkey dinner were $222.29. The Ladies' Aid Society have voted to give the trustees of the church $500.

The Woman's Missionary Society will send the usual Christmas box to its blind member at Albany. Contributions may be handed Miss Edith Holmes or Mrs. Vernon Faulkner by December 18.

The choir is preparing a Christmas cantata for the vesper service December 19.

Wednesday evening the Ushers' Club and members of the Westminster Guild will present an entertainment in the chapel for the calendar fund.

The subject for Thursday evening's service will be "The Place of John the Baptist in the Life of Jesus."

SANTA WILL VISIT JOYCE-SCHIRICK POST.

Santa Claus, who is a mighty busy man these days, has promised the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Joyce-Schirick Post, No. 1,386, that he will be on hand Thursday night at the club rooms at the corner of Broadway and Brewster street. A big Christmas tree bearing all sorts of toys, candies and other articles to go to make youthful hearts happy will be all ready for Santa when he arrives, and the genial old fellow will distribute all the goodies to the young sons and daughters of the vets. The post will hold a short business meeting, which will be called at seven o'clock, and at the conclusion of the business session the celebration will take place.

As one of the principal topics brought up at the meeting will be the masquerade ball which will be held at the Armory on January 1st, the veterans are urged to request all to be present. Plans are being made to make the ball one of the best events of the social season.

USHERS' CLUB TO PRESENT ENTERTAINMENT WEDNESDAY

The Ushers' Club of the Rondout Presbyterian Church will present their annual entertainment in the chapel Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

A splendid program has been arranged which will be full of good wholesome fun and plenty of the latest songs.

The young men have worked hard and with the assistance of the young ladies of the Westminster Guild expect to present an entertainment which will please all. Tickets can be obtained from members of the club or at the door Wednesday evening and the public is cordially invited to attend.

CATHOLIC DAUGHTERS CARD PARTY THURSDAY

The Catholic Daughters of America will hold an evening card party on Thursday evening, December 16, at K. of C. Hall. The games will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served. Benefit is for Christmas Cheer and a nominal admission will be asked. The public is invited.

REMOVE BOTTLE BRUSH FROM DOG'S STOMACH

Ithaca, N. Y., Dec. 14 (P).—One of the most unusual operations ever performed at the New York State College of Veterinary Medicine has been successful. A 12-inch bottle brush was removed from the stomach of a dog.

"Blackie", a three-months-old English bulldog owned by an Ithacan, was found to be suffering from evident gastronomic disturbance. Unable to sleep or eat, she was taken to Dr. H. J. Mills of the State College. He operated and discovered a long bottle brush, with the handle in the dog's throat and the brush end lodged in the intestines. "Blackie" had apparently swallowed the implement while at play. The patient had a remarkable recovery from the operation. She was brought home from the hospital the following day and is now as playful as ever.

14 Days to Get License Plates

As no auto license plates will be issued on Sundays and on Christmas Day, motor vehicle owners who have failed to secure the necessary license plates for 1927 should get busy and either send their renewal application to the Ulster county motor vehicle bureau, 237 Fair street, or come personally during the next week.

There are only fourteen days left to get them before January 1, and those who wait until the last week will be compelled as in former years to stand in line and wait their turn. Frequently the dilatory ones have stood in line for an hour or more. Blanks to be filled out can be had at nearly every garage and of all auto dealers and much time can be saved by having them filled out properly and sworn to before a notary public ahead of time. By so doing, Deputy Clerk Finger, in charge of the local bureau, or the assistants will be prepared to deliver the plates at once.

Mail applications if accompanied by the necessary amount will be cared for the same day, providing the applications are made out correctly and sworn to. So far the demand has been a few hundred ahead of last year with an increase in the number of applications. The new plates can be used legally after December 26.

Considerate

That James Whitcomb Riley was fond of his dog, Lockie, is well known, but his consideration for his pet's diet as well as his comfort was revealed in a visit to the former home of the poet in Locustville street. Attention was called to some dark spots on the red velvet carpet on the dining-room floor. These spots were beside the chair in which Mr. Riley always sat at the dining table. The caretaker explained that it was the poet's custom to share his meals with Lockie, regardless of what it was, or of its effect on the carpet.

One day Mr. Riley ordered minced ham for his lunch. When it was served to him, he complained that it contained mustard.

"Why," said the maid, "I thought you liked mustard with your ham."

"I do," replied Riley, "but Lockie doesn't."

"Y" Considers Petting Problem

Educational Campaign Is Under Way by Y. M. C. A. to Eliminate Class of Youth Who Consider Themselves More to Be Petted Than Censured.

New York, Dec. 14 (AP).—A quiet, person to person, drive against "petting" is under way by the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A. and kindred organizations.

There is no war in progress against the frivolous practice, nor is any sensational campaign planned, social workers for the organizations declare, but they acknowledge that educational work is being carried on persistently to eliminate that class of youth who consider themselves more to be petted than censured.

And not all of them agree that petting is an unmitigated evil. Mrs. Eleanor Wembridge, woman referee of the Cuyahoga County court, Cleveland, believes that petting in moderation is regarded in certain circles as a social asset.

"Whether they pet or not," says Mrs. Wembridge, "college girls as a rule hesitate to have any one believe they do not. Since petting may lead to romance, most girls say they must pet or be left behind."

No General Campaign.

There have been rumors here of a general campaign to be waged by the Y. M. C. A. against petting, but workers of the organization declare these reports grew out of a popular demand for republication of an article in a "Y" magazine by Dr. Max J. Exner on "The Question of Petting." Dr. Exner, head of the American Social Hygiene Association, says in it that "the essential harm of petting lies in the fact that it is a cultivation of a low order of love."

"The best we can do," said Dr. Exner today, "is for us adults to point out a thoughtful view to the younger people in the country. We cannot attempt to coerce them into any course of action—whether for or against petting. It is to be greatly deprecated that there has been reference to this problem of 'petting' as an isolated phenomenon. It is bound up with the whole problem of sex and social relationships and must be met in a large, educational way."

Y. W. Meets Problem. The Y. W. C. A. is meeting the problem, it was learned, through a special group called the family relations committee.

Under the National Student Council, a joint Y. W. and Y. M. organization, containing more than 200,000 young people, an attempt is being made to relate the problem of social relationship to the problem of religion.

Three thousand delegates from various college "Y's", composed of men and women students, will gather during the Christmas holidays at Milwaukee to discuss religion and life. One of the topics to be discussed will be "what makes a student a flapper? a sheik? a womanhater?"

WHEN HE CAPTURED A BRIDE

By GREGORY GREEN

(Copyright by W. G. Chapman.)

"AND it's a shame, to see a girl of your age, who could still have her choice, remaining unmarried," said the old lady emphatically.

Little Miss Duffree smiled, for she knew the old lady's frankness. At thirty, she was still unmarried. She had been a belle once; her face told her that evening that she was still attractive, in spite of the hint of a line at the edge of the mouth, and of a thread or two of gray at the temples.

Once little Miss Duffree had been in love, madly in love. But he had gone away West, and after a while his letters ceased. Then she had plunged into work, never regarding her other suitors with any seriousness. She was the busiest mortal alive. In the morning she did her housework, and sewed, and marketed; in the afternoon she read the newspapers, skimmed the latest book, sewed some more, dressed, visited the sick, put up preserves in season, and did the thousand odd tasks that any woman can find to do. And the thought of getting married had simply never occurred to her since Jack went away.

She really was an old maid. She could not have torn herself away from her round of duties.

"If any man wanted to marry me, he'd have to lead me up to the altar by force," she said.

It was three weeks after the old lady had gone away, shaking her head, that Jack came home. He had been gone seven years, and he was the talk of the village, with his money, his good looks, and the fact that he was still unmarried. He called upon little Miss Duffree almost as soon as May Duffree had heard of his return.

If the heart beneath the prim dress was beating faster than usual, little Miss Duffree gave no sign of it. Jack shook hands, sat down, and talked like an old friend. Sometimes Miss Duffree, looking up, found his eyes fixed upon her in a puzzled way. At length he broke the comparative silence that had grown up between them.

"May," he said, "why have you changed so much?"

"I changed?" she asked in surprise. "Yes. You have been telling me all about the things you do; they seem to fill your life. Well—you used not to be like that."

"How do you mean?" asked Miss Duffree.

"Well, you—why, May, don't you remember how we went to the picnic and walked home together and talked poetry to each other all the way?"

"But that was eight years ago, Mr. McCallum. People grow staid as they grow older."

"But—May, listen! You have filled your life with a lot of inanimate things that mean nothing. You have become enslaved to them. They don't represent anything. There ought to be more humanity in your life."

Miss Duffree rose. "I know you mean well," she said icily, "but I have chosen my life."

No rose also. He took her by the hands. "May," he cried, "don't you see that I love you still? I have always hoped some day to return and ask you to be my wife. I felt I had no right to continue writing to you, when I had no prospects. May—"

She took her hands from his. "No, it is impossible, Jack," she said, with a touch of tenderness nevertheless.

"But why?"

"I am what I have made myself. I loved you once, and I will admit I like you now as much as any man alive. But—well, I am cut out to be an old maid, I think. I couldn't face the prospect of beginning a new life. If any man married me it would be by force."

"I will carry you away captive," he began, half seriously.

She smiled. "I hope we shall always be friends," she said. There was finality in her tone.

Jack went away. He saw her several times afterward. But it was true, what he had realized: Miss Duffree's heart seemed to have been frozen years before. She was really an old maid by instinct. Jack McCallum had this view confirmed by the old lady.

"It's a great pity," she said, "but some women are like that. I don't know that there's any cure, except marriage."

"Is that a cure?" asked Jack, bewildered.

"A certain cure," said the old lady decisively. "Never known to fail."

"But you have got to marry them to cure them, and if they refuse to be married?"

"Then the point," said the old lady reflectively. "How are you going to make them?"

"And you think there's no chance for me?"

"I think," said the old lady, "that May Duffree cares for you as much as she is capable of caring for anybody. But she doesn't love you. She couldn't love—now. What in the world did you do to her, Jack, before you went away? Break her heart?"

"If I had thought that," he answered, "I would have married her. Money or no money."

"It's the safest way," said the old lady.

In spite of the old lady's warning Jack tried his luck again. He declared his love. Little Miss Duffree stopped him promptly.

"Now, Mr. McCallum, if we are to remain friends," she said, "you must realize that this cannot be. Won't you try? You know, I am fond of you, as a friend."

Jack told her it was impossible. He stayed away a whole week. At the end of that period, standing in the street, he fancied that she looked a little worried.

Dere Santy Klaus

Have you made out your shopping list yet? If you haven't, here are some suggestions that I now our families would like to have. Granddaddy was talking about some nice warm underwear and Grandmother wanted some warm woolen stockings, and Uncle Jack was asking about a nice wool sweater that he would like and I know Auntie said that some silk hosiery was just what her heart desired. Mother was just saying the other day that her bedroom slippers were just about as worn out and Big Sister is going away so I now that an overalls bag with fittings is just what she wants, and Big Brother wants a brand new bathrobe, and say Mother wanted a bathrobe too, and we all want to get Daddy a new Overcoat, and I want a football or a baseball set and Santy Klaus I have been a very good boy and I hope that you are feeling kudo, and Santy Klaus if you want to save the bother of looking all over for these, why don't you go up to DAVE'S where Daddy goes and you'll get all these up there and Santy Klaus, see, they don't charge much either.

Many adults, unaccompanied by children, stop and watch while the little tot gives her list of Christmas wants. New York, Dec. 14 (AP).—Resumption of the upward movement of prices in today's stock market carried the general industrial average to a new record high level. Trading was again in broad volume, with the public apparently taking a greater interest in the proceedings.

Buying orders were distributed over a broad list, but the motor shares received major speculative attention under the leadership of General Motors and Mack Truck. Chrysler, which was strong yesterday, was subjected to some profit taking. The brisk accumulation of the low priced motors in the last few days has been associated with merger rumors, but details of the proposed new combinations are lacking.

Another series of "Christmas div-

Grangers Leap and Slide to Safety

Twenty-five Members of Greene County Grange Holding Meeting in Hall Over Garage When Fire Starts in Kitchen and Blocks Stairway.

The Grange Hall at Clumax, three miles from West Coxsack, was destroyed by fire Monday night while a meeting was being held, and twenty-five members of the Clumax Grange saved themselves by leaping from a second story window. Mrs. Arthur Hallenbeck, who sustained injuries to her back, was the only one seriously injured. Others were cut by glass.

The Grange meeting was being conducted in the hall over Manley Van Denberg's garage when the fire started in the kitchen of the hall located near the stairway, the only exit from the building, and before the members could reach the stairs their egress had been cut off.

Several leaped from the windows to the snow banks below. In the meantime male members of the Grange took long benches and placing them out of the window at an angle made sliding boards down which the remainder slid to safety. One car in the garage was burned. The loss is estimated at $4,000.

Several others also jumped from windows, according to Mr. Hallenbeck. The distance from the meeting room on the second floor to the ground, he said, is about twenty-five feet. The flames spread quickly to the meeting place, throwing those assembled into confusion. The first warning that the building was in flames came when smoke began curling between the cracks of the floor.

The village had no fire fighting equipment and efforts of a hurriedly formed fire brigade to stop the fire were fruitless.

Dr. L. E. Van Hoesen treated Mrs. Hallenbeck and others who suffered injuries. He said Mrs. Hallenbeck's condition was not critical.

Kanakas Left Record of Engineering Skill

In bygone days the natives of New Caledonia displayed an astonishing knowledge of engineering.

Because the valleys where they lived were too narrow to support a growing population, they carved the sides of the hills into great terraces. These were carefully graded so that mountain streams could be made to flow smoothly along each terrace and down to the next in zigzags, each half a mile or so long, says a writer in Adventure Magazine. If there was no spring on the hillside, they brought water from neighboring slopes along viaducts made of hollowed-out tree-trunks. They gauged levels with a nicely modern engineers might envy.

Few of these terraced hillside are cultivated today. The white man has changed all that. The native population is decreasing. The survivors are apathetic and indolent; they work on plantations or cattle ranches, and on Sundays they get drunk when they are not attending church.

Do you speak of Jagers and Wesseltons or just "diamonds"

If you know whether Jager diamonds are finer than Cape diamonds. Wesseltons finer than Premiers. If you can distinguish blue-white from yellow or light brown. If you judge the value of a diamond by its proportion of width to depth—if, in other words, you are a true connoisseur of diamonds, you do not need our help in your choice of these fine jewels.

But if you are not a connoisseur, you will want to be guided in your selection of diamond jewelry by men who have mastered these matters of color, proportion and value. You will feel secure only in a store where men not only know all there is to know about the diamonds you choose, but who will tell you everything frankly while you choose.

These people who are not connoisseurs come to see us for honest guidance in their selection of fine diamonds. And these people who are connoisseurs come to us for the pleasure of the jewels themselves.

Throughout the many years of our business history we have earned and we now enjoy a reputation for selling merchandise of the highest character. Some people may confuse "HIGH QUALITY" with "HIGH PRICES" so we want to make it quite clear that Oppenheimer's is a "Store for Everybody"—for those who appreciate WORTH WHILE merchandise at reasonable prices.

We cordially invite you to visit our store—while we appreciate purchases we also welcome visitors—we want you to become familiar with our large and varied stock.
